MAY DECIDE IT TODAY, Why Valleyrie-Vigilant Yacht Roce

New Yong, Oct d.—Yesterday's inter-national yacht race between the Valky-rie and Veglant resolved in a dissail failure being to an unfortunate lack of sand. At 5 o'whick the English yacht was a mile in the lead of the Vertinet. But although the race had over started six hours before, the point for which they were sailing was jet miles away. A meeting of the regulta committee of the New York Yacht club was held last night, when it was decided to sail the next cup race on Saturday over yesterday a course. The other races were postponed one day later. The race or-Was Not Contested. postpored one day later. The race or-iginally arranged for Saturday will come off on Monday and Monday's race as originally arranged will be sailed on Tuesday next.

Lord Dizaraven said: "I cannot has

She Took the Cigarettes

When a belt Ruecar was coming down Virginia avenue the other afternoon, a science looking young man was the sole occupant of the rear seat. Just as the Secrety fourth armory was reached two beantiful young weener signaled the car. and walled out in the readway. One was a tall blood with brilliantly blue gree and golden hair, and the other a brunetto of magnificent figure. Both were finite white drawer, and both were exceedingly fall to look unon. Every seat in front of the one which the solemn vising him occupied in solitary state was crowded.

Well, Lill," said the blood, "I guess we've got to get in been,"

two women climbed about.

The selemn young man looked them over with a great show of interest. He had just lighted a cigarette, but out of deforence to his scatmates he threw it.

The blond giggled. "Seems kind of queer to be riding in the smokers' seat, doesn't it?" she asked. "I don't think it's queer," replied the

The solemn young man looked up.

Then he dived down into his cost pocket. fished cut a new packet of cigarettes, broke the stamp and handed it politely to the blond.

She shrunk back as if frightened. Not so with the brunette. She reached over, took the eigarettes, put them in her handbag, smiled a smile that was so bright it shamed the sunlight and said: "On, thank you. We'll smoke theta

And the selemn young man doesn't know yet whether she was stringing him or not.—Buffale Express.

Pretty Near It.

An Irishman often seems to possess a curious felicity in perverting the meaning of a message which has been intrusted to him. He never boggles or hesitates over it, but dashes off something which sounds to him like what he has been told to repeat, and no matter how great a mistake he may have made, he always plumes himself upon having come so near the right thing.
At one time Commodore Shubrick was visiting Fenimore Cooper, and the lat-ter's Irish servant was told to ask for letters for the old gentleman at the post-oflice. He blustered into the office, and after receiving his master's mail inquired anxiously, "An have yes iver a letther for that Misther Brickbat?"

The puzzled postmaster asked a bystander if he knew who was staying at the half just then, and the man at once mentioned the name of Shubrick.

Shure an he's the very man I mane!" exclaimed Pat, turning a beaming smile on the bystander. "But now didn't I make a meighty good guess at it?"-Youth's Companion.

the agent of the great Prudential Insurance Co., is widely known as a premiacut and influential business man.

he is of the type of eminent men whose word commands belief, and we gladly publish what he says because we know it to be true and because others will be assured of its truth by his own powerful words.

"I was broken down in health and most need up," he said. "I was terribly nervous and could not sleep nights. I was also troubled with dyspepsia in its worst form. At the food I ale almost killed me with pain, indigestion, gas and bloating of the stomach.

"I commenced to take Dr. Greene's Nervura bload and nerve remedy and took five bottles. I now feel a hundred times better, in fact I am all right and can eat anything without burting me a bit and sleep well and soundly.

JOSEPH BEUNDAGE, ESQ. "In fact, this wonderful medicine has been all in all to me. I have gained ten pounds in weight and feel like another man. I would have given $10 a bottle for it if I could not get it for less. I am therefore one of its strongest advocates and feel that I cannot praise it enough in recommending it to others who wish to be cured."

One of the peculiar features of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve rem-edy is the fact that so many eminent persons, people foremost among minis-ters, physicians, scientists, and the best known and most prominent business men, recommend the use of this valuable
